ENGINE ORDERED TO "HOSPITAL"

Government Inspector Hauled Old No. 53 Off the Branch Train.

The railway officials in Montpelier were up in the air, so to speak, this morning when a government inspector of engines ordered the train crew on the branch passenger train not to pull the train to Barre with engine 53. When seen after the train had left, he stated to the representatives of The Times that the engine was not fit to be pulling a train and that she was liable to break down at any time. It is understood that "she has been booked in" for repairs, but these have not been made. The spare engine 205 was being used in the freight work this morning, so that part of the work was delayed for a time, engine 205 having been taken to pull the passenger train. It is the first time in many years that an inspector has been so stiff with an order but he stated he was following the regulations and that he had no choice in the matter because the engine had been allowed to leave a terminal without proper inspection.

Engine 305, which is generally used on the freight, was in the shops, so that an engine from the Montpelier & Wells River railroad was obtained to handle its work until other arrangements could be made.

ACTION WILL BE BINDING.

Despite Efforts of American and British Delegates at Trades Union Congress.

Amsterdam, Aug. 4.—With the last sitting of the International Trades Union congress here to-day, American and British delegates sought to amend the last paragraph of the resolutions dealing with the conference to be held in Washington, D. C., in October, providing that the resolutions should be binding on all nations represented at the present congress. The British and Americans, however, failed in their effort to remove the objectionable paragraph and the resolution was adopted, 29 to 11. The British delegates left before the vote was taken.

MONUMENTAL MARBLE SALES SHOW INCREASE

U. S. Geological Survey Report Reveals That Vermont Is Still Far at the Head of the States in Production of Marble.

An increase in the quantity and value of marble sold for monumental work was a notable feature of the marble industry in 1918, according to figures compiled under the direction of G. F. Loughlin, United States geological survey, department of the interior, from reports of producers. The sales of marble of this class, including both rough and dressed stone, amounted to 713,912 cubic feet, valued at $2,047,282, an increase of 23,343 cubic feet (4 per cent) in quantity and of $549,571 (23 per cent) in value. The average price per ton in 1918 was $4.13, which was 63 cents more than in 1917.

Ordinarily the building marble sold amounts to more than twice as much as the monumental marble, but in 1918 the building marble amounted to only about one-fourth more. The output of building marble, including rough and dressed stone, was 880,097 cubic feet, valued at $2,252,262, a decrease of 590,696 cubic feet (40 per cent) in quantity and of $1,450,301 (39 per cent) in value from the output in 1917. The average price per ton in 1918 was $2.56.

The marble sold for other uses than as building and monumental stone in 1918 amounted to 109,432 short tons, valued at $296,539, an increase of 75 per cent in quantity and 29 per cent in value. This marble, which represents about 55 per cent of the total marble output, was waste stone for furnace flux, paper mill, riprap and road metal; crushed stone for terrazzo, stucco and poultry grit; and pulverized stone ("marble flour") for agricultural use, for use as filler (mainly in putty paint, soap and rubber), and for use as chemical wastes. The price per ton for this stone ranged from 60 cents to $14 a short ton. The total marble output in 1918 is tabulated below.

Quantity. Value.

Building stone, rough and dressed, cubic feet 880,097 $2,252,262

Monumental stone, rough and dressed, cubic feet 713,912 2,047,282

Other marble, short tons 109,432 296,539

(cu. ft. 3,575,670)

Approx. total (sh. ts. 305,720) $5,496,389

These figures represent a decrease of 1.4 per cent in quantity and of 13.2 per cent in value. The large increase in quantity of the stone of lower grade and its smaller increase in value reversed the conditions which were expected in 1918 in this industry—that is, a large decrease in quantity but a smaller decrease in value.

The number of operations in 1918 was 64, which was five less than in 1917. All operators reported adverse conditions due to the increased cost of operation.

The value of marble sold by the states that reported the largest value were Vermont ($2,751,390), Georgia ($1,152,444), and Tennessee ($809,040). The output of these three states together represented 82 per cent of the total value. The next states in order in value of marble output were Alabama, Missouri, New York and Massachusetts.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Two Armed Men Were Hovering Near Clemenceau's Residence.

Paris, Monday, Aug. 4.—Two laborers, one of whom had two revolvers and the other a large knife, were arrested to-day near the residence of Premier Clemenceau by detectives who said their manner excited suspicion.

As they were being taken to the police station, a detective said, the men offered money for release. When they were questioned they gave their names as Ernest Vallee and Alexander Bonnard. They said they had an engagement with friends and relatives at a cafe in the street where M. Clemenceau resides.

The possession of weapons they explained by saying that some one whose name they did not know commissioned them to sell them for him. The men were held for trial on charges of carrying concealed weapons and attempted bribery.

Vallee, the police stated, is believed to be a deserter.

TO-DAY

SHIRLEY MASON IN "THE FINAL CLOSE-UP"

Quite an appropriate title for a motion picture production. What think you? What is the final close-up? What would a picture be without it? Shirley Mason tells you in this picture and tells you in a manner that is sure to convince. All you have to do is watch her. Also a Ved-a-Vee showing five of the latest vaudeville hits, and a news picture.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 6—FANNIE WARD IN "THE CRY OF THE WEAK"

A motion picture that is unusually good. Some of the very best screen acting in some time is done by Fannie Ward and a very capable and well-selected supporting cast. For an hour of good entertainment, few pictures can compare with it. Also a Kinogram news and a Mutt & Jeff cartoon comedy. A better play than "Common Clay."

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7—DOROTHY DALTON IN "THE LADY OF RED BUTTE"

In this production we have an interesting story laid in the West, in which dance halls and gambling dens of iniquity play a large part, but the material has been shaped and handled in such an entirely different manner as to make it quite entertaining. Dorothy Dalton handles a suitable role well. Also a Paramount Drey comedy, "THE AMATEUR LIAR," and a Pictograph tonic.
